

Conservation School: Nurturing Green Minds in Nepal

Video Link : https://youtu.be/r-mG3F_a4kA

Website : <http://greenhood.org.np/>

Greenhood Nepal is a non-profit making, youth led environmental organization. Established with the vision to involve young minds in taking action towards sustainable future and proper utilization of prevailing natural resources. Nepal went through a state of prolonged political instability marred by civil war, which favored for the growth of rampant corruption, illegal wildlife trade, and massive deforestation. Even after the peace process, the situation, rather than being vanished, turned out to be a culture. Greenhood envisions educating, inspiring and engaging youths in biodiversity conservation throughout the nation. Greenhood believes that young minds can persuade change in people attitude towards biodiversity conservation and ensure a better place for people and planet. To educate youths about nature conservation, inspire them for sustainable use of natural resources, and engage them in biodiversity protection to ensure grass root level communities are involved in creating a sustainable future.

This is a good initiative for changing education systems to include courses and camps for conserving nature and making students mind more concerned about nature and encouraging them to conserve nature.